

Museums, Dinosaur Park 'Musts' in Rapid City

Rapid City is South Dakota's second largest city with a population nearing the 50,000 mark and a great many high-calibre attractions for the over two million tourists it entertains each summer.

As the Black Hills focal point of U. S. Interstate 90 and highways 14 and 16 and state highways 40 and 79, the "Gate City" of the Black Hills offers its visitors splendid accommodations and service facilities, plus some excellent entertainment and sight-seeing.

Included among its top attractions are beautiful city parks, the School of Mines and Sioux Indian Museums, Dinosaur Park, Story Book Island for the youngsters, dog racing at the Black Hills Kennel Club, stock car racing, Basin League professional baseball, the Ellsworth Air Force Base, swimming, horseback riding and a fish hatchery.

Listed for overnight accommodations of the tourists are 95 motels with 1,350 individual living units and four hotels with over 500 rooms.

Both the South Dakota School of Mines museum, where many specimens of pre-historic reptile life and a complete sampling of minerals and ores may be seen, and the Indian Museum, which has a notable exhibit of Sioux lore, are open
